

Gardenias

Gardenias grown indoors need special care. They demand an acid soil and should receive the same nutritional care as azaleas. The night temperature should be near 60 degrees Fahrenheit, and the humidity around the plant should be kept high. High temperature and low light intensity will result in flower bud drop.

